Brussels Visit on Approaches to Internationalization in Higher Education Institutions.

Nesrin Neslihan Kocuk, a lecturer from the Foreign Languages Department at Istanbul Nişantaşı University, participated in the Erasmus Staff Teaching Mobility program between May 19 and 23 at Haute Ecole Libre De Bruxelles Ilya Prigogine in Brussels, Belgium.

During the mobility week, the host university organized a series of classes and meetings around the theme of "Approaches to Internationalization in Higher Education Institutions." The event brought together participants from across Europe. Our lecturer actively participated by managing and observing classrooms and delivered lessons on topics such as Lesson Planning in Internationalization, Curriculum Development, Classroom Management, and Teacher Identity.

Through these sessions, participants had the opportunity to gain both theoretical and practical insights to implement internationalization processes in their own institutions.

As the Foreign Languages Department, we take pride in our lecturer's valuable contributions to this international event and wish her continued success.

Our Foreign Languages Department Celebrated International Day 2025 at NeoTech Campus

On May 30th, our Foreign Languages Department at İstanbul Nişantaşı University proudly participated in the International Day 2025 event at NeoTech Campus. It was inspiring to see so many cultures come together under one roof, building bridges and fostering a sense of unity among students, staff, and guests.

We were delighted to support this initiative, celebrating the richness of diversity and promoting cross-cultural understanding. Events like this remind us of the importance of embracing different perspectives and learning from one another.

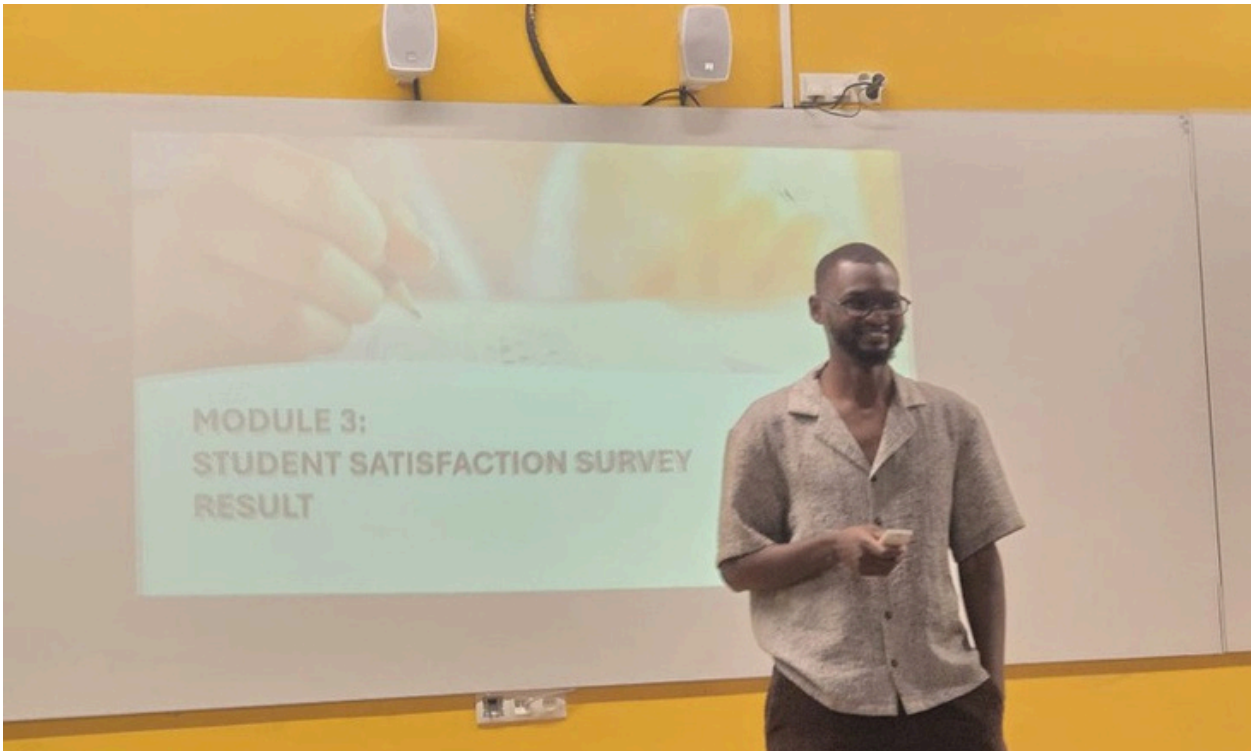

We congratulate İstanbul Nişantaşı University International Office for organizing such a successful and meaningful day!

Foreign Languages Head of Department participated in the Global Sustainable Development Congress

Our Department Head of Foreign Languages, Assoc. Prof. İhsan İkizer, participated in the "Global Sustainable Development Congress" held in Istanbul on June 16-19, 2025, in collaboration with the Higher Education Council (YÖK) and the international higher education ranking organization Times Higher Education (THE). At the congress, which was attended by over 5,000 international representatives from 110 countries, our Department Head engaged in various discussions. The congress, which is held in a different country each year, addresses topics such as climate change, socio-economic equality, health, energy, and education.

Exploring Student Voices: Insights from the Student Satisfaction Survey

As part of our ongoing commitment to educational excellence and continuous improvement, our department recently hosted a presentation on the results of the Module 3 Student Satisfaction Survey. The session, led by Educational Specialist Abdy Haruna, took place during our weekly departmental meeting and offered valuable insights into student feedback regarding both course content and teacher performance. Our colleague shared key findings from the survey, highlighting areas whr students expressed strong satisfaction, as well as aspects that may benefit from further development.

This initiative not only reflects our dedication to maintaining high academic standards but also reinforces our belief in student-centered learning. We thank everyone who contributed to the survey and encourage ongoing dialogue to help shape a more engaging and responsive learning environment.
