Before people use money, they used other things that were valuable to them, such as plants or animals, to pay for things. Over the years, people developed more convenient ways to buy things such as loans, checks, and credit cards. Another convenient type of money is electronic money. Electronic money is used just like real money but can be saved on a computer or an electronic cash card. Electronic money makes it easy to send money over the internet. Today, there are many ways to buy things, but it is also easy to spend too much money. People can have problems when they spend more than they earn. As a result, many people are often looking for ways to save money. One way for people to save money is bartering. Bartering means to exchange one thing for another without using money. For example, one person might exchange some food for some clothing or another item with equal value. Before people use money, they bartered for things they needed. Today, people, business, and governments still barter as a way to save money. For example, a business might barter for goods, such as machines, or services, such as designing a website, that another business can do for them. Some people use the internet to find other people who are interested in bartering. Other people use community barter networks. A barter network is a group of people that trade with each other. A barter network provides its members with the chance to save money and get to know other people in their community.
