2. THE CITY OF ISTANBUL AND HOW TO GET THERE

2.1. THE CITY

Istanbul is Turkey's most populous city as well as its cultural and financial hub. Located on both sides of the Bosphorus, the narrow strait between the Black Sea and the Marmara Sea, Istanbul bridges Asia and Europe both physically and culturally. Istanbul's population is estimated to be 15 million people, making it also one of the largest cities in Europe and the world.

Bosphorus View

HISTORY

Expanding the ancient Roman colony of Byzantium by the order of the Roman Emperor Constantine the Great, the imperial city of Constantinople was for nearly a thousand years the last remaining outpost of the Roman (later termed Eastern Roman or Byzantine) Empire. It was finally conquered by the Ottoman Sultan Mehmed II on 29 May 1453, an event sometimes used to mark the end of the Middle Ages. It was the nerve center for military campaigns that were to enlarge the Ottoman Empire dramatically. By the mid-1500s, Istanbul, with a population of almost half a million, was a major cultural, political, and commercial center. Ottoman rule continued until it was defeated in WWI and Istanbul was occupied by the allies. When the Republic of Turkey was born in 1923 after the War of Independence, Kemal Atatürk moved its capital to the city of Ankara. However, Istanbul has continued to expand dramatically; today its population is approximately 15 million and increases at an estimated 400,000 immigrants per year. Industry has expanded even as tourism has grown.

ORIENTATION

Istanbul is divided in three by the north-south Bosporus Strait (Istanbul Bogazi), the dividing line between Europe and Asia, the estuary of the Golden Horn (Haliç) bisecting the western part and the Sea of Marmara (Marmara Denizi) forming a boundary to the south. Most sights are concentrated in the old city on the peninsula

CLIMATE

Istanbul has a temperate oceanic climate which is influenced by a continental climate, with hot and humid summers and cold, wet and occasionally snowy winters. Istanbul has a high annual average rainfall of 844 mm with late autumn and winter being the wettest, and late spring and summer being the driest.

Summer is generally hot with averages around 32°C during the day and 25°C at night. Expect temperatures of up to 38° C for the hottest days of the year. Summer is also the driest season, but it does infrequently rain. Light clothing is recommended during summer.

of Sultanahmet, to the west of the Bosphorus between the Horn and the Sea. Across the Horn to the north are Galata, Beyoğlu and Taksim, the heart of modern Istanbul, while Kadıköy is the major district on the comparatively less-visited Anatolian side of the city.

Winter is cold and wet, averaging 2°C at night and 7°C during the day. Although rarely below freezing during the day, high relative humidity levels and the wind chill makes it feel bitterly cold and very unpleasant.

Snowfall, which occurs almost annually, is common between the months of December and March, with an annual total snow cover of almost three weeks, but average winter snowfall varies considerably from year to year, and snow cover usually remains only for a few days after each snowfall, even under intense snow conditions.

2.2. HOW TO GET THERE

BY PLANE

Atatürk Airport

Most planes arrive at Istanbul Atatürk Airport (IATA: IST), 20 km west of the city center. From the airport, there are various options for getting into Istanbul.

You can take a taxi (approximately 60-65 TRY ₺) to Taksim. There is no night fare in Istanbul - the price would be the same at midnight or midday. The express bus service run by the local airport service called "Havabüs" which departs half-hourly between 4AM-midnight and costs 12₺ (December 2017) to Taksim and Aksaray. For more details about "Havabüs" please click here.

Another option is metro (06:00-00:05) (signposted "light rail" in the airport, when you get outside the baggage claim it's about a 10 minute walk in the airport to the metro line. Just follow the signs), which will take you directly to the Otogar (bus station) or to numerous stops within Istanbul (Aksaray in the city centre is the last stop, transfer stations for tram heading for deeper into old city is available at Zeytinburnu and Aksaray). It costs 5₺, by token (costs 2.60₺ with the Istanbulkart, July 2017) and getting to Aksaray takes around 45 minutes.

When entering the metro station, you need to buy a jeton (token) for 5₺. Just hand the cashier 5₺ and he will give you a token, or use the automatic dispenser (Jetonmatik), which accepts banknotes (5₺, 10₺, 20₺) as well as coins. Use 'select' to choose the number of jetons and then push 'ok'. They do not accept credit card or foreign currency here. This will get you on the red metro line (towards Aksaray). From this line, if you are going to Sultanahmet, you can transfer at Zeytinburnu and buy another jeton (5₺) - see the section on "Istanbulkart" if further travel within Istanbul's metro system will be undertaken. Note that the jeton token here is different than the first one. From Zeytinburnu, take the blue tram line T1, towards Kabataş which passes by: Sultanahmet, Eminönü and Tophane. The trip from the airport to Sultanahmet takes about 45min.

Sabiha Gökçen Airport

Istanbul also has a second airport, Sabiha Gökçen International Airport (IATA: SAW), located in the Anatolian side of the city.

The cheapest way to arrive from Sabiha Gökçen Airport to the European side of Istanbul is by bus (E10 or E11 lines, from Sabiha Gökçen Airport to Kadıköy) and then ferry (from Kadıköy to many ferry stations, including some in the Sultanahmet area). A pricier option is the Havabüs connects this airport with Taksim in the city center for 15₺ (December 2017) and takes about an hour.

Istanbul Atatürk Airport

BY TRAIN

Istanbul Sirkeci Terminal (Sirkeci Garı) is the main railway station in the European part of the city of Istanbul (Turkey). Night trains to Beograd, Sofia and Bucharest. To check the route for travel please click here.

BY BUS

Most buses and coaches terminate at the colossal Esenler Otogar, about 10 km west of the city center, located on the European side. The station can be easily reached via the Otogar stop on the M1. Buses depart/arrive for all regions of Turkey as well as for international destinations including cities in Bulgaria, Greece, Republic of Macedonia and Romania. The terminal is huge and each company has a separate office.

5. NİŞANTAŞI UNIVERSITY GRADING SYSTEM

Nişantaşı University uses the typical American A-F scale where GPA is calculated on a scale of 4.00. The letter grades, coefficients and percentage equivalents are given below.

SCORE	GRADE	COEFFICIENT
90-100	AA	4.00
85-89	BA	3.50
80-84	BB	3.00
75-79	CB	2.50

Besides that, students can use ID card to obtain other benefits deriving from the student status such as discounts on entrance fees to museums and other visits etc.

11.4. PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION AND ISTANBUL CARD

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Istanbul's public transit system can be difficult to figure out; maps are rare and you often have to transfer, and pay another fare, to get where you are going. However, if you put some effort into it, you can avoid taxis and not walk too much.

There is an extensive bus system, including city-run and private buses, as well as one high-speed Metrobüs line; an extensive light rail system including four Metro (underground) lines, four Tramvays (aboveground), two Finükülers (ascending/descending), two mini-lines called Teleferik, and the Marmaray (underwater) lines; and the ferries which travel the Bosphorus.

An important supplement to all of this (particularly late at night) is the fleet of private dolmuş minivans, which follow prescribed routes and wait until they fill up before departing. They range in price from 2-8 lira (paid in cash), depending on how far you're going. They run all night long, unlike most of the public transport lines. So if you find yourself stranded at Taksim at 4 am, a dolmuş is your way home. Look for the yellow minivans, and ask them where they're going.

WHAT IS ISTANBUL CARD?

Istanbul Card is Istanbul's one-for-all (entire transit system; subways, metrobus, bus, ferries, streetcars) chipped card in the shape of a plastic ID. It is a refill card and refill is available through automated multi lingual machines or authorized kiosks around the city.

Students may visit any IETT Application Centers to apply for Student Card. You need to take your passport, a photo, Student Certificate and 10 TL with you. Your IstanbulCard will be ready in 5 minutes. The main Application Centers are in Karaköy, Kadıköy, Beşiktaş, in Pendik.

Working Hours:

08:30 – 18:00 (Monday-Friday)

09:00 – 17:00 (Saturday)

11.5. LIVING EXPENSES

Living expenses (rent, food, public transport, books) in Istanbul roughly amount to €500 per month; actual expenditure depends on individual lifestyle.

11.6. INTERNET ACCESS IN CAMPUS

Nişantaşı University offers students free Internet access in campus. If you have your own laptop, tablet or mobile device then you can use them to access the Internet via the campus Wi-Fi Turkcell Superonline.

11.7. LIBRARY

Nişantaşı University Central Library has around 22.000 books arranged by type (fiction, biography, history, and so on) in shelves that hold about 50 books each. Nişantaşı University students may use the basic services of the Library free of charge with their student identity card. Also, the undergraduate students may borrow 3 books for 15 days and postgraduate students are able to borrow 4 books for 21 days.

If the Library does not have resources which you require, then you may fill the 'request form' to provide them.

Working Hours:

08:00 – 21:00 (Monday-Friday)

11.8. SHOPPING

Connecting east and west, the will to control the major trading routes was the reason why Istanbul was founded in the first place, so shopping should definitely not be overlooked in your Istanbul experience. The currency used in Istanbul is the Turkish Lira (TL or TRY) though the Euro and US dollar are also accepted at places frequented by tourists.

Istanbul's historical bazaars with an oriental ambience, once sitting firmly on the western termini of the Silk Road and spice routes, all dating back to Ottoman era, are all located in the peninsula of Old City. On the other hand, modern shopping malls ('alışveriş merkezi', usually shortened to AVM), popping all around the city in the last three decades, are mostly to be found in New Istanbul and western suburbs.

11.9. ENTERTAINMENT AND CULTURAL EVENTS

Istanbul hosts more than 100 special events throughout the year including music, film, dance and theatre festivals, trade fairs, exhibitions and sports events. Most of the events have international importance and attract spectators and performers from all over the world.
